Sorority Rushing To Close With Final Teas Sunday

Sorority "Rushing" activities officially commenced the week of Jan. 4, and will close with final teas on Sunday, Jan. 17. The term "rushing" refers to a series of activities and parties sponsored by the individual sororities, designed to familiarize new students with Greek organizations and better acquaint sorority members with prospective members.

Sigma Phi Kappa which organizes their activities around a "Journey to Greece," theme started the "rush" of parties off with a German Beer Festival. Alpines served the cold brew, guests were entertained by Tyrolean maidies decked out in burr-kin, and pretzels and root beer flowed.

Last evening the Kappas accompanied the rushes on their second step of the journey—dinner in Japan. Traditionally, Sigma Phi Gammas entertain their prospective members at a Hawaiian luau. Sarongs, swaying music and exotic food set the mood at their Wednesday evening party. Gamma Omicron Beta used their nickname, "Gobs," in setting the scene for an annual shipboard party. Guests are placed in the mood with appropriate music, and entertainment. Following the individual teas, Sunday, the "rushing" will register their first and second choices with Miss Marjorie Pope, Panhellicn adviser. Then the sorority presidents will get together with their lists, match them with the preference slips, and send out invitations to become members.

Each sorority has a probationary period during which time the pledge may drop out or be dropped by the sorority. Following this period, which usually lasts about one month, the pledges are formally initiated into the sisterhood.

Survey Shows KUMD Heard

During registration for winter quarter, 1960, and the days immediately following, campus radio station KUMD-FM made a survey to determine listenership and advisability of FM or AM operation. The survey, conducted by John A. Rupkalvis, publicity manager and chairman of the listenership committee of KUMD-FM, polled 168 students and 39 faculty members, for a total of 207 responses.

Numerical breakdown of the answers to the individual questions on the survey were as follows: Of the 207 respondents, 122 heard KUMD at some time during its three years of AM broadcasting, plus 4 more who were not sure as to whether the station that they were tuned to near 890 or 940ke was KUMD's AM signal or not. Seventy-one heard KUMD-FM at some time during its one quarter of FM broadcasting, plus 2 not sure as to whether the signal they heard was KUMD-FM on 89.1 or not where it is presently located on the FM dial.

Answers to the question concerning the greatest distance at which KUMD-FM could be heard were generally quite similar. The maximum distance of reception was reported to be 50 miles from the transmitter at Kirby Student Center. Several respondents reported reception 30 miles northeast and 5 miles southwest of Kirby. Tests indicate that even these distances are quite conservative. Twenty-mile reception can be had with a small table model FM radio with no external antenna. Reception with a high fidelity FM tuner is naturally of much higher quality.

In an attempt at gathering some idea of the types of receiving equipment that is owned by the student body and the faculty, the following data was uncovered: 175 of the surveyed own at least one AM (standard broadcast) radio. 85 own two or more. The greatest number owned by one person was 4. 50 own AM-FM combination radios, the greatest number owned by one person being 4. 14 own at least one FM high fidelity tuner, with 2 being the greatest number. 4 own an AM-FM stereo tuner, of which one owns two. 156 own at least one television set, 19 own two or more, and the maximum number of sets owned by one person is three.
Religion & SA

Recently the UMD-SA granted funds to the Religious Council to help subsidize Religion and Life Week, which, if a grant is questionable. Whether UMD has the right to help sponsor religious activity? If one refers to the constitution (SA) on the section which prohibits the giving of money in support of religious activity.

However, this does violate a basic democratic principle that the state must not exert any form of pressure on the church, but must rather support religious activity.

The UMD-SA in essence is supporting a drive to make religion an integral part of the curriculum. It also goes far beyond the responsibility of the university, and the assembly. If the various denominational representatives in the form of religious clubs on our campus, feel a need to bring religion to campus and so are necessary to do this then each of the denominational groups involved has the responsibility of providing such funds.

No governmental entity has the right to involve itself in the promulgation of religion.

plus one not even own at least one AM car radio, 30 own two or in three being the maximum owned by any one person.

3 of the respondents own an FM car radio. 16 own at least one other FM car radio. Four portable sets, 4 were home sets, and 6 were other types of receivers.

KUMD-FM sincerely wishes to thank Mr. Archerd, Dr. Hasken.

and the members of the KUMD operation made this survey possible. Already the survey is proving to be quite useful. Interest and enthusiasm in participation in KUMD-FM was very encouraging.

KUMD-FM, 44 in all, indicated that they would be interested in broadcasting, announcing, or other work with KUMD-FM. Those not included in the survey, but interested in participating in some aspect of KUMD-FM may contact the station at Washburn 5 on the lower campus, or RA 4-9901 ext. 218, or RA 3-7713 after 5 p.m.

Written comments were added by 42 of the 207, of which 23 were partly or all praise, 11 were partly or all criticism, and 9 were suggestions for change or developments. Hereafter, all additions were revised to AM broadcasting.

This survey is presently being analyzed to aid in determining future broadcasting endeavors. It is gratifying to note that a much larger portion of the student body is conscious of KUMD-FM, than was previously anticipated. For the general public to about you and yours sitting ' social asset.

Bridge Lessons

There is still time to sign up for Bridge lessons at only $1.00 for the entire winter quarter series. The Kirby Program Committee has accomplished through careful persuasion, in persuading Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Smith to instruct and guide you in the wonderfully exciting and relaxing pastime. Drawing from his knowledge of the game and his teaching experience, he will be able to teach the basics fundamentals, while at the same time, guiding those who have already played bridge in developing and improving their proficiency at it.

Think about the present?

Think about how much fun you can have learning how to play bridge with your friends. Think about you and your sitting around in a nice square little table with another couple, having a few laughs over a glass of beer and a game of bridge.

AAUW Accepts UMD

The American Association of University Women has authorized the acceptance of graduates of Dunbar and Duluth, for membership. Notice of the authorization which implies the name of the new alumnae chapter was announced by Mrs. Gladys Swanson, president of the Duluth chapter of the AAUW.

Simultaneous notice was received today by U officials and Mrs. Robert Seguin, the Duluth AAUW membership chairman, from the national AAUW membership committee headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Eligibility of UMD alumnae will be retroactive at least to the time of the university's designating a branch of the AAUW in Minneapolis in 1947.

Duluth AAUW members are responsible for contacting a number of alumnae of the University, who are now enrolled as state teachers college.

Today's announcement culminates eight years of effort on the part of Duluth AAUW members. Application to have eligibility accepted, UMD graduates was first prepared and submitted under the direction of Dr. Elizabeth Grayzel, then AAUW membership chairman and a member of the UMD staff.

MIC AIC NEWS

By COHEN and FISCHMAN

UMD's Bulldogs seem to have rebounded from their early slump which saw them lose to Augsburg and Superior State, as they turned in two impressive victories in the last week.

Jan. 5 saw the Bulldogs journey to Duluth where they defeated the Scots of Macalester, 74-62. Junior co-captain Dave Bar­ker led the onslaught with 26 points. Bulldog coach Norm O’Hanes was given a chance to look at all twelve of his varsity players in this game. A bright spot was the fine performance turned in by sub-center Dave Lind­strom.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

The first week of intramural basketball for winter quarter found the league standings in this order. Some of the teams played their first round games in the basketball leagues.

The volleyball league has also completed first round play with the Laurinums showing their power by soundly defeating the P.E. faculty.

There is still time to enter teams in badminton, bowling, archery and handball. These leagues will begin play on January 30th, according to Mr. Myhr, intramural co-ordinator.

HOCKEY TO DUULTH

By CHARLES HOFFMAN

The possibility of deciding game in the NCAA championship hockey race will be played tomorrow night. On Saturday, Jan. 16, St. Thomas' puckers will journey to Duluth to play the UMD Bulldog's.

According to Bulldog coach Ralph Romano, St. Thomas is expected to be the harder team in the NCAA, and should provide UMD with a good challenge. Last year's score was UMD 4; St. Thomas 2.
