1853. June 12. Chester Adgate

1854. April 29. Clera, sister, was born. San Francisco.

Chester's father and two younger brothers, and two younger sisters by sister died. The father had little to live except a 40 acre farm that his wife had induced him to invest in near Ovid, N.Y. So she took the three who were left—Chester, Laura, & Albert—and worked the farm till 1871, when Bertie was ready for college. When they moved to a small farm on the outskirts of Syracuse, not far from the College Campus.
Another farm near by. There was not much farming done, but it was a home.

Chester had finished his college preparation at Ovid under Mr. Winchester, of whom he had a fine opinion who was a good friend. Perhaps Albert did also. Chester graduated in the same class -1875, at Syracuse—a new college then. This was the first class to complete the four year course there, and I enjoy for a year the new building completed on the campus. Chester's degree was A.B. January 35.
Laura, too, went through the course in Fine Arts, but I'm not sure she took her degree.

After graduation, Chester, who had spent three months in charge of a small private school for girls, began law studies and also tried teaching to support himself while studying.

Maurice Townsend, N.J.
Spent part of the year in the Fine Arts College under Prof. Comfort, and made also a long visit-in Cowgol at my Uncle David Manning's, where his daughter I painted nearly every day. In 1876 fall I began teaching in Alcandra College, Belle ville, Ont., and continued till the month of June 1878, drawing painting grammar and philosophy, and a few other things. I was called assistant-preceptress. It was hardly the place for me and I changed to Wyoming.
Kingston, Pa.

Seminary, with pleasure. I was very happy there for three years. Meanwhile Chester had taught in Marion, made little, went west to Iowa on invitation of Mr. Brown, father of Walter Brown. He took pains to examine every large or small town that he found in his way, but made no decision. Then was teacher in a night school in Des Moines and studied law in the office of Hiscock, Gifford & Doherty, went to Chippewa Falls.
to teach in the high school. That is when he boarded at Mr. Pound's was so grateful to Mrs.
Pound and was always interested in the family fortunes. They went to Montana before the N. P. railroad was finished and he went part
of the way to his great Enlightenment. While teaching in a school in he concluded that if he was ever going to be attorney he might as well start and branched

1853 – June 12.

Catherine Longden, born in Rochester, N.Y., family living on Frank St. Perhaps, Albert was born there, in 1853-7, and during a second appointment in Rochester, so it is more likely the family were living in some other neighborhood when Chester, the eldest, was born. His father was a Methodist minister and, in those days, the appointments were for one or two years, so they moved often. The father, Sylvester Lawrence, and the mother, Laura Adgate, lived and served in Addison, Corners...
There was some talk of the father's going to California but it came to nothing and was not long before he died at Elmira. The children were Chester, Laura, Albert, Eddie, Walter, Helen Augusta, baby. In Elmira the children all had scarlet fever. The three younger ones died within a week. While the father also was taken by pneumonia.

Chester was thirteen or fourteen at that time. He was buried in Elmira. Harry Heerman's father and mother were very kind to him. Chester's mother was left with nothing but a farm.
of 40 acres in the part of New York between Cayuga and Seneca Lakes. It was not free of mortgage but she managed well and economized, & later made enough to send the three to College. Meanwhile they attended East Genesee Conference in Ovid, driving an ulti the horse, and in August 1871 C.W. Winchester certified that Sheets had completed the Collegiate Pre- paratory course. He had the Valedictory at closing exercises. Laura took part and Nat Wheeler also who married some years later, Clara Bradley. She entered Syracuse U.
in its first-Freshman class-1871-Sept.
He had wanted to go to Yale, but couldn't afford that...
When he was nine—1862—

Mother, Alice, and Bertha made a visit to New York and Salem, June 23-Dec. 13.

I was in S. F. High School Jan. 3 to Dec. 10, 1870.
At the Mechanics Institute Fair in San Francisco Oct. 69, we saw a Pullman Palace Drawing room car—first time. "Splendidly furnished" was divided into compartments with small closets containing toilet arrangements between, on each side of the passage. One division had seats along the side across the seat opposite ones with tables between. One with single seats opposite a passage between the sides of the car. We could not tell for what.

Sept. 1, 1869, visited the "female college of the Pacific" beyond Oakland. "Later part of the State University—Berkeley."
The father (Rev. Edward Barnett, D.D.) was appointed to the church in Marysville and the family moved there Nov. 16, 1870.

In Sept. 1871, Bertha was very sick with fever. She was six years old. The father was sick at the same time just after returning from Conference in S.F. from the 14th to the 26th when he died 7:15 A.M. He was buried in the cemetery at Marysville but afterwards removed to the Odd Fellows' Cemetery in San Francisco. A letter came the day before his death from his mother saying it was probably the last he would ever receive from her. But she lived several years longer.

The family left Marysville Oct. 5 and after a stay of perhaps two weeks in San Francisco with the Lewis Merills and Dr. Otis S. Elkins family a visit
